REGULAR SCREENING

CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE!

FACT: No woman should die from cervical cancer.

REALITY: 3,900 women die from cervical cancer each year in the U.S.

FACT: With regular screening, cervical cancer is preventable.

REALITY: 10,520 women are diagnosed with cervical cancer each year in the U.S.

How do we make reality match the facts? Simple.

Do Your Part — Take The Pledge — Prevent Cervical Cancer

Take the Pledge is a program that helps women learn more about cervical cancer so they can prevent it.

By “taking the pledge” — filling out a pledge online or on a pledge card — women “register” their commitment to getting screened. In doing so, they will be thanked for their commitment with an annual reminder that it is time to schedule their appointment.

Women can take the pledge and register for an annual exam reminder on the Campaign’s Web site: www.cervicalcancercampaign.org.

Pledge Card

Yes, I will do my part to prevent cervical cancer! I pledge to get a gynecologic exam each year and ask my health care provider about cervical cancer screening. In doing so, I understand that I am doing my part to prevent cervical cancer.

To remind me of my pledge each year, please send me:

- An electronic reminder via e-mail
- A reminder postcard in the mail

DISCLAIMER

The Gynecologic Cancer Foundation (GCF) is attempting to help you remember to get screened for the early detection of gynecologic cancer. However, for a number of reasons, you may not receive a reminder. The sole responsibility to schedule your annual gynecologic exam rests with you. GCF disclaims any duty to provide you with any reminder.

GCF reserves the right to terminate this program at any time without notice. Moreover, GCF may exclude from the program anyone who it believes may be abusing the program. GCF has no obligation to send you any reminder or to make sure you have made an appointment.
